CBS News Reference Library Selects EOS.Web® Enterprise

CBS News Inks Deal With EOS International®

(Carlsbad, CA – May 18, 2005) Market leader EOS International announces that CBS News has selected EOS.Web Enterprise to help satisfy their information management and research request requirements.

"I am sincerely gratified that after investigating the library solutions available on the market today, CBS News chose EOS.Web," states EOS CEO Tony Saadat. "We are looking forward to working directly with them on future development projects as CBS News incorporates EOS.Web Enterprise into their vision of a larger information management program."

"I anticipate making the EOS.Web OPAC available to researchers, producers, and executives, with our library collection contributing content towards news coverage and investigative stories," states Laura Kapnick, Reference Library Director for CBS News.

Established in 1940, the CBS News Reference Library has one of the largest editorial news library collections in the world.
